1. Introduction. Securitization was once regarded as a mechanism that enhanced the resilience and stability of the financial system by redistributing risk efficiently. 1 Through securitization, banks off-loaded credit risk, transformed illiquid assets into saleable securities, reduced their reliance on customer deposits and expanded their lending capacity.

Security market line (SML) is the representation of the capital asset pricing model. It displays the expected rate of return of an individual security as a function of systematic, non-diversifiable risk. The risk of an individual risky security reflects the volatility of the return from security rather than the return of the market portfolio.
